

MANZANITA CREEK

2 0 1 0 Foot Hill CHARDONNAY Chalk Hill SONOMA

The 2010 Foot Hill Vineyard Chardonnay is grown on a western facing slope of the Mayacamas Mountains near the town of Windsor in Sonoma County. This growing region is known for its volcanic chalky white ash soil, hence the name Chalk Hill. The growing conditions for these Chardonnay vines are arguably the best in the New World. This exceptional wine is a perfect example of its terrior.

Tropical aromas of Pineapple, pear with a hint of guava, hints of butterscotch & vanilla. Excellent mouth feel, Fruit is framed with a crisp acidity. Classic flavors of toasted hazelnut leaving an impression of sweetness with a lingering finish.

Manzanita Creek is passionate about Chardonnay, we think our Chardonnay is the perfect foil to our red wines. We only pick the best grapes out there-and only bottle the best wines. Our new Chalk Hill Chardonnay is approachable, it's affable, and best of all its affordable.

Technical Stuff:

Appellation:	Chalk Hill
Vineyard:	Foot Hill Vineyard
Yield per acer:	6 Tons
Year planted:	2005
Alcohol:	14.2%
Production:	4400 cases

